Our Story begins..

August twenty-ninth brought a new school year, a new beginning; new skills to challenge, old ones to master; a time to work, a time to play; experiences to share, opportunities to serve; old friends, new ones; excitement, anticipation. For some students, this year was their first at Keystone; for others, their last. For everyone, it was a year of memories.

A symbol of freedom.

$5.40, please.

Ah-h! Peace and quiet.

With the winter months came a frantic tempo —there were so many things to do: a concert by the music department, basketball, club meetings, the close of the old semester and promises brought by a new one and the yearbook deadline. And somewhere in between, we struggled over term papers or projects.

Before we realized it, the last six-week period had begun. We studied hard to pass our final examinations. The juniors worked secretly on the Junior-Senior Prom. And finally, the most important month of all for a senior, June. No longer was graduation a dream; it was a reality. We received our diplomas—tangible proof that the years of learning and growing in high school were over. But these years will not escape us; they are captured forever in our memories.

PLAY

THAT RUNS SO TRUE

Produced on a unit set by the Class of '61, "The Thread That Runs So True" proved to be a unique experience for an appreciative audience, which was one of the largest in the history of our school.

Under the direction of Miss Mary Jane Wilshire, the cast depicted the trials and tribulations of a teacher at Lonesome Valley Rural School. In a series of colorful developments the excitement and humor of life in the Kentucky mountains were vividly shown.

Humor alone was not the reason for the success of the play, for there was the pathos of a poverty-stricken mining region—and even a touch of romance.

Young Jesse Stuart was quite bewildered when he was left in charge, for many of his students were bigger and tougher than he, and none of them could see much sense in studying. Bertha and John Conway, Aunt Effie Batson, and the other members of the school board were against him from the start.

Jesse had friends, also. Don Conway and Grandma Binion were always on hand to see that everything went smoothly and that the "younguns" were all right.

The conclusion was the most delightful part of all, for in the midst of all the confusion Jesse had found what every person seeks—the thread that runs so true.

ALMA MATER

Keystone High, our alma mater,
Fount of wisdom, truth, and light,
Thee, we love, on thee rely,
For thy guidance always right.
We sing out thy fame and honor,
We recall thy ideals true,
As we strive with hope anew.

We salute thee, Keystone High School,
Praise to thee we loud proclaim,
As we strive to bring thee glory,
Paying tribute to thy name.
Memories pleasant, classmates loyal,
All are treasures we hold dear,
As we face each future year.

Is it selfish to hoard sentiment? I think not. Our memories are precious treasures we keep within the inner vault of our souls, counting them, as does a miser, only when we shut our eyes and quietly open the door of our heart after turning the key of remembrance.—G. Wallace Tibbetts.

The National Honor Society is a national institution dedicated to promoting scholarship in the secondary schools of the country and endeavoring to place secondary education on a higher level. National headquarters are in Washington, D. C.

The Keystone Chapter, No. 7756, of the National Honor Society was established on April 15, 1959. On April 13, 1960, members of the Classes of 1960 and 1961 were inducted into the society at an assembly of the student body. The ceremony was planned and conducted by members of the Keystone Chapter chosen in 1959. The Reverend Lewis R. Fox of Knox was guest speaker for the induction ceremony. John Fox, David Helsel, Keith Mong, and Hays Bell gave the qualifications for membership. John Russell presented the new members. The society's 1959-60 president, Floyd Say, administered the pledge, and Mr. Herbert Chadman awarded to the new members the official National Honor Society cards. Following the ceremony, all members of the society, parents of the new members, and the faculty attended a tea and reception, honoring the new members, in the Keystone High School library.

Requirements for election to the National Honor Society are high scholarship and better than average ratings of character, leadership, and service. Faculty members familiar with the students eligible make the ratings, which are tabulated by the chapter council consisting of Mr. Herbert Chadman, principal, Miss Mary E. Shaner, advisor, Miss Florence Crisman, Mr. Merrell Barnett, and Mr. Ronald Bole.

A project sponsored by the chapter during the 1960-61 school year was the "adoption" and support of an orphan in Greece. This was the project sponsored by the 1959-60 group.

The organization also planned and conducted a school election in connection with the national Presidential Election. The high school students were divided into three voting precincts, manned by all the required election officers. The election was carried out as nearly as possible to the actual procedure, right down to the use of specimen ballots.

Officers of Keystone Chapter No. 7756 are: president, Kay Weaver; vice president, Jack Zerby; secretary, Marilyn Waddell; and treasurer, Susan Schettler.
